President Clinton
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear President Clinton:

I know that in your long list of important concerns for this country, labeling of genetically engineered foods is probably not among them. Nevertheless, I wish to bring to your attention the serious nature of developing foods which contain genes not normally found in the plants.

Splicing genes of totally unrelated materials, into food products is very scary. This leads to genetically engineered foods for sale, on the shelves of our super markets, to be bought and consumed by shoppers, without us knowing what we are getting.

A few years back there was a big hullabaloo about listing the ingredients on the product, including the amount of sodium, fat, vitamins, etc. Well, how come we have no labels to tell us when foods such as soybeans, tomatoes, corn and so on, have been genetically manipulated??

This is an outrage, and I call upon you to use your presidential powers to put a stop to this deceptive practice.

Sincerely,

Janet Shaffer
